Axis Mundi - Liu Zexuan | August 7 - September 6, 2026

In his first solo exhibition in Germany, Liu Zexuan explores stories, beliefs, and narratives that originated in and around Tibet, as well as the ways in which they continue to shape perception and the imagination.

He has created four new works on paper for the exhibition Axis Mundi. All four stories have their origins in the artist's personal sphere and the background scenes depict images from an expedition.

The artist is interested in how the past is repeatedly reinterpreted, mystified, and transformed into new narratives on the internet and in popular culture. It is precisely this process how history becomes myth. That lies at the heart of his work.

Liu Zexuan, born 1997, lives in Frankfurt.
