18 September – 7 November 2026

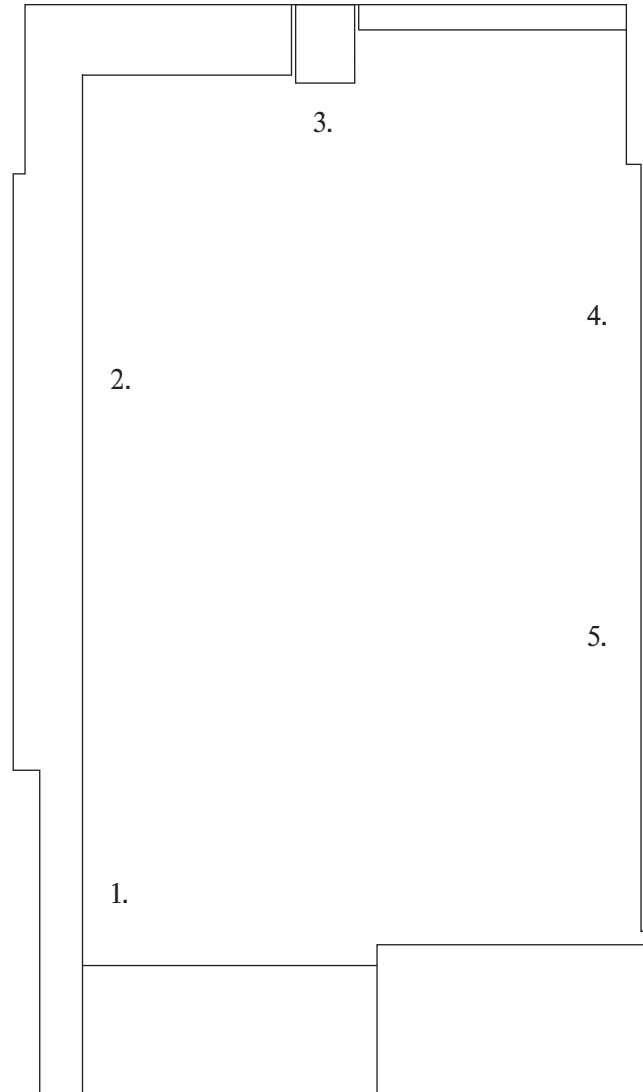

Opening reception: Thursday, 17 September, 6–8 pm

0/1 43 Virginia Street, Gasgow G1 1TS

Kate Walton's paintings comprise the imagined, the remembered, and the observed. Walton is interested in the depiction of figures and their relationship to their environment, with compositions often arrived at through a considered process of observational drawing and etching. Her supports are typically wooden offcuts salvaged from her workplace, which are prepared using a homemade gesso – a version of a recipe originally used in ancient icon painting. Through this process, ordinary materials are imbued with a sense of light. Layers of delicately applied oil paint occasionally reveal pentimento, conveying a sense of temporal uncertainty and fluidity in the work.
