

What Pipeline

Now Open Free Parking

Marte Eknæs & Nicolau Vergueiro featuring Lisa Sitko

September 12 - October 17, 2015

The urban construction site is an ever-changing still life. Billboards, construction sites and parking lots accessorize the city and transform quotidian operations.

In this chronic tableau public space is a moldable terrain for unexpected uses, applications and conditions - a parking lot of transitory eclecticism.

Now Open Free Parking vacillates between art and service provision, extending the exhibition space to the city. It works against typical distinctions between public art and publicity, design and propaganda.
