

And I still look for the clock for the time on the wall where your clock used to hang but there is nothing there and I still think about your denim coat with the buttons down it that you offered to me on the bus I might be wearing it now if I had accepted your offer I might be about to put it on and walk out in to the summer of this country whilst you are in yours except it is not yours and this isn't mine either and we should have gone to eat at the Hotel in town we may have even thought it a good idea to stay there at two o'clock in the morning and sleep in those big clean white beds for a few hours before leaving and taking a shower and stealing some hotel toiletries and I might still have the bottles in my bathroom and every time I took a shower I would think of you and us in the Hotel in town in those big clean white beds waking up and drinking a coffee in the middle of Soho watching people going home or going to work.

I should have eaten supper before I met you for the concert as I waited by the fountains instead of watching people meet so that by the time we'd drunk the first drink after~~wa~~ I was able to think clearly about anything you were saying but maybe this was better as maybe I didn't want to hear what it was that I think you were saying if that is what you were saying I should have never told the truth and what might have happened if you had been at the party you might be next to me putting on your denim coat with the buttons down it and walking out in to the summer of this country whilst I put on my shoes and we take the subway to the cinema and watch old movies all evening before going to eat in a Hotel in town we may even think it a good idea to stay there at two o'clock in the morning and sleep in those big white clean beds for a few hours before leaving and taking a shower and stealing some hotel toiletries and we might still have the bottles in our bathroom and every time we took a shower we would think of us in the Hotel in town in those big clean white beds ~~for~~ waking up and drinking a coffee in the middle of Soho watching people going home or going to work.

I should have had the courage to call you before it was too late and we should have gone to eat at the Hotel in town we may have even thought it a good idea to stay there at two o'clock in the morning and sleep in those big clean white beds for a few hours before leaving and taking a shower and stealing some hotel toiletries and I might still have the x bottles in my bathroom and every time I took a shower I would think of you and us in the Hotel in town in those big clean white beds waking up and drinking a coffee in the middle of Soho watching people going home or going to work.