DIRK BELL

LI've is LI've

19. September 2009 – 1. November 2009

The Schinkel Pavillon presents the exhibition LI've is LI've by Dirk Bell. The title of the exhibition arises from the wordplay of the English words "life" and "I have" and gives occasion to think about the existential coherences of life, such as being and having, liberty and restriction.

During the opening, the Norwegian band MoHa! performs to the simultaneous illumination of a light installation by Dirk Bell. One month later, during a performance of the band Tree People the lights are extinguished. Over the following period of ten days, the afterglow of the partially illuminated grid tapers off.
