a family audition to be in a stage production based on the game 'case volume one'
and my brother also auditioned for it, and he got a speaking part.

'hooray'

they were his words, though.

anything they can get out of him is fine with me.

the theatre is the best place for families like that.

but he had a great time.

mercy and i went on our walk in the stinking cold after he left.

It was good to get the blood pumping after being holed up in the house all day.

I was supposed to call the bank today, but forgot.
ugh. tomorrow i have to figure out the printer problem.

reliving their past as if it were yesterday.

just short stories.

looking into the room

going to go play my guitar... "and i don't remember whose..." "yours,
