Who moved ^{my} ~~the~~ cube?

Figures of authority deliver contradictory statements as territorial expansion. There's more space between A and Z than between A and B. But this is where circular argumentation comes in. Also often employed by authoritarian figures.

Infrastructures* can ensure totalitarian readings, infrastructures can obscure totalitarian readings.

A resurrection of the repressed woman as a surface for projection and identification of past images for the needs of the present.

The cube as a huge barrier contraceptive. Perfectly harmless! Now where did I put it...
