Recently at u's:

an exhibition of new work by the Seoul and Los Angeles based artist, Haena Yoo.

the exhibition features four works: Body Packages, Breastfeeding, Venus, and Shepee.

a main component of Shepee is a ceramic distillation system that produces soju for people to drink while visiting the show.

at the opening, someone said that the soju reminded them of drinking rainwater out of tree stumps.

thanks to Sterling Wells for his help installing the exhibition.
