

Works Sited, reprised
curated by Olivian Cha
5/5/13 — 6/30/13

Works Sited, reprised presents a set of reflections, deflections and thoughtful quotations linked through a shared involvement in a series of displays and programs at the Los Angeles Public Library. The artworks, publications and ephemera that make up this exhibition exist in a peculiar state of displacement. Works Sited, as a reprise or perhaps as an index, severs its physical connection to the library but remains contextually tied to its original site. Many of these works are newly conceived, while others have been previously shown, performed or used as reference material; they are presented here as a collection that was never intended to be one.
