The object on the pedestal in the center of the walled space is a folded cube of paper printed with the artist's selfies pointing up, down, left, and right. The printed side is placed inside the box, so the image cannot be seen from the outside.
