Kai Matsumiya Gallery presents Weathering, a group exhibition opening Thursday, February 9 at our new 264 Canal Street location.

KATE MANHEIM

A weathered object may appear battered or chafed. A once pristine surface rubbed raw by forces that twist, quake, tear, age, or erupt may have survived some tumultuous disaster, or merely the cyclical changes that come with the seasons.

Weathering will focus on collage, décollage, assemblage and installation-fragments. The selected works, highlighting qualities of mutability and repetition, intimate a fundamental and barbarous compunction to start anew.
