SOLO TÚ
RM at CEC 2023

Until last summer we used to go by a name written Real Madrid, pronounced either riəl mə'driɪd, or ʃe'al ma'ðriɪd. After legal threats by a namesake company we had to disown that moniker and disclose being unpatented knockoffs. It was a matter of ticking time, of who trademarked facts first and once – for the moment we use the shortened RM but pronunciation stays unaltered.

We want this show to be an unbaptism, a debut against copyrighted one-off geniuses, an and to a story, a stack of counterfeit it merch and a spoonful of the shared minestrone of ideas, and also another unoriginal show about identity.

The b/w images you see have been taken by Mathilde Agius.
