

Release for exhibition

"29/11/97, 19 clock," Michaela Eichwald

in charge ~ Gunter Reski, Berlin

"Feelings are no arguments, and arguments are rhetorical. So?

You must trust yourself and follow themselves and await counter the fact that the activity itself out something emerges and takes decisions by themselves.

- Yeah. This is getting boring to me, although it seems to me to be all right.

If ideas have had their time, they do not want you to think more and no longer attend their gestures, not even the most correct, does not see itself created the coolest, but other ornaments of question marks.

Now I have again spoken explanatory.

I do not trust you because g ar nothing about? "