

Jay Payton ~ The Infinitesimal Man and his Ephemeral Existence
Gern en Regalia* ~ January 11th - February 17, 2024

An exhibition of paintings dedicated to furthering an understanding of Man and his position within the ecosystem he has created for himself.

Through conquest and conquering

From love and war

No matter where man places his efforts during his time in this moment, he must understand he is not infinite.

No more than a dust particle in a bed of salt

Not to be confused with purposelessness

His influence can be such that, through the histories of the future, many remember and value his efforts

Or

Others may see him as a danger to the society of his time

There is a great power within the human experience

Greater than any degree of life within the universe that can be measured today

Power + Responsibility = ?

The equation we as a species, society, community, have yet to solve

Luckily for us, a new day is an opportunity to consider what yesterday failed to bring to our attention

But

We must work with haste

Because tomorrow is not guaranteed

Jay P.