The Voyage of Puny Buny

21 February – 13 April 2024

I'm practicing my flows, writing bars, in the back of the night bus heading for a strategically positioned islet of our shared hopes and ambitions. Imagining a pin screen toy placed face down on a nail mat draped over a cast of your face. Face mist... Miste ansikt... Lose face, glue trace... The guest room slowly morphing into the master suite. The sheets are a whirlpool. The bed is a stage. Then the lights went out. Tomato tossing and turning, ketchup nightmares. Draped, drowning, swimming upstream, butterfly style. I was a runway sensation once. Praying for a natural disaster to break loose. Walking on tightropes onto the World Stage. Golfing in Switzerland, I got so bored I captured a wild cat, built a corridor-shaped labyrinth out of baskets from the driving range and made the cat walk back and forth by psspsps-ing and petting it. A catwalk. She seemed to like it, purring and gently pinching my thumb between her fangs. No whistling behind the scenes, please! A heckler in despair makes his final, modest proposal, selling a stuffed mallard to a bank robber. While they were dancing, the price tag, still on his shirt, popped out from the neckline. At the end of the rainbow, there was nothing but closing credits: Red, orange, yellow, green, blue, indigo, violet. Scum only wants to hear about the dirt and I have the fastest clotting blood in the world.
