

American Art Catalogues presents Chamber Music by Seth Becker.

Chamber Music, the artist's first major monograph, is a 248-page volume featuring over 200 paintings from the last eight years. Offering an intimate look into Becker's evolving practice, the book includes several works that no longer exist, reflecting his unique process of reworking earlier paintings into new compositions.

In conjunction with the release of Chamber Music, American Art Catalogues will present a focused selection of older paintings featured in the book at our West Village space on October 25th and remain on view through December 6th.
