

A watercolor painting of a river flowing through a rocky landscape. The river is white with foam, indicating rapids. The rocks are in shades of brown, tan, and grey. In the background, there are tall, thin evergreen trees. On the left bank, a person is visible, possibly a fisherman, standing near some wooden structures. The overall style is soft and painterly.

HANNELORE NENNING

Fließen

C& CENTER OF UNFINISHED BUSINESS
15.03.25 - 27.04.25