

Painter

Joshua Abelow

September 21 – November 2, 2013

Joshua Abelow's work is a disciplined exploration into the life, meaning and symbols of a painter. His paintings exercise autobiography, color, rigid geometric abstraction, text and expressive figuration. The works on paper are self-portraits that mock a perverse persona of himself as a painter. Not to be overlooked is Abelow's activity as a writer and blogger. His poetry conveys an up-to-date story of his life and work. ART BLOG ART BLOG, updated on an almost daily basis, offers a meticulously curated selection of artwork and images, links and text – this activity is reflective of a significant paradigm shift for visual culture today. Through the use of syntax, poetics, autobiography and cataloging Abelow is creating works that are a part of a deep and seemingly infinite exploration. Joshua Abelow received his BFA from the Rhode Island School of Design and his MFA from Cranbrook Academy of Art.
