

Alexander Wolff

Dimensions Variable

Opens Friday, August 15, 6 - 9 pm

August 15 – September 20

We are thrilled to announce the exhibition Dimensions Variable, featuring Berlin-based artist Alexander Wolff in his first solo show in the Bay Area.

This exhibition will showcase modular textile paintings created by the artist between 2007 and 2009, uniting works that have never been displayed together before. "His decision-making of how one element was attached to the other seemed guided by some outside (or interior) criteria, towards something just on the verge of when physical form shifts towards illusion," writes artist and writer Megan Francis Sullivan in the accompanying exhibition text.
