ARA PETERSON

Stratacaster

January 16 – February 14, 2026

Opening Reception: Friday, January 16, 6–8 pm

Derek Eller Gallery is pleased to present Stratacaster, a solo show of recent sculptural paintings by Ara Peterson. Continuing his exploration of “strata graphics”—phenomena of sculptural remnants revealed by means of cutting into a prepared three-dimensional material—the wall-based works in this exhibition walk the line between visual balance and spontaneity. Generating a topography through kinetic processes, Peterson mines a composition which is defined by both deliberate choices and chance occasions.

For over two decades, Peterson has used film, video, clay, paint, and wood to investigate ideas about stratification in space and time. In this new body of work, he creates unique hand-built plywood that combines layers of wood veneer, plastic sheet, and in some cases “graffiti wall” salvaged from a local tunnel. Using a CNC router, the work is revised during all stages of the production to achieve a complex, textural, and rhythmic field of movement in relief with its own living qualities.

The router’s tooling generates unexpected interactions with the materials; fine and coarse ridges appear on the surface of the wood, giving the look of expanding and contracting corduroy fabric. Introducing the mined graffiti wall into the sequence allows for further visual variety. Peterson explains, “It’s exciting when different layers have their own living qualities, like the growth of the wood grain in a tree burl or the thickness of spray paint that’s been applied by hundreds of people over many years.”
