

From December 17, 2025, the exhibition "20013" is on display at the Meno Avilys cinema exposition space in Vilnius. The exhibition features works by Ona Juciūtė, Ulijona Odišarija, okcandice, Josiane M.H. Pozi, Ryan Trecartin and Požeminiai taškai.

According to exhibition curator Gerda Paliušytė, ““20013” is dedicated to the act of remixing, whilst viewing it both as a force of annihilation and empowerment. The main aim of this exhibition is to build an experience packed with raw destruction, humour, and a glimpse of melancholy – all to create a variety of moods we often use to define reality. It is sought that the exhibition – as well as works in it – would remind one of the opportunity for change or some space for potential; this potential sometimes arises in a bleak situation when a few pieces are rearranged.”

This exhibition is a part of the Cinematheque event series curated by Ona Kotryna Dikavičiūtė and Gerda Paliušytė.

The Cinematheque event series is an ongoing project of Meno Avilys. We invite Lithuanian and international artists, curators, and researchers to become acquainted with both the physical and digital Cinematheque archive of restored movies and video works. Audiences of Meno Avilys are introduced to curator research via guest-organized moving picture programs, as well as public announcements, commissioned writing, and literature recommendations.

The exhibition takes place in the Meno Avilys cinematheque exposition space in Vilnius, A. Goštauto St. 2 / A. Vienuolio St. 14. To visit the exhibition, enter the Meno Avilys cinematheque (A. Goštauto St. 2); Meno Avilys staff will guide you to the exhibition space.

You can visit the exhibition Wednesday–Friday from 3 p.m. to 7 p.m. until January 30th.
