I: A High Stakes Gamble
February 28 – March 29, 2015
Opening reception: Saturday, February 28th 7 – 10 PM

Humans all bet with their lives - their life story is one big gamble. No one's life is the answer but some people are very lucky. People want to share that luck. From my observations over the years, the luckiest ones are the chosen ones.

I don't understand why more people don't risk. Risk is only the potential of losing something "valuable". But who cares if it's risky so long as it's interesting - error is just a suspension of truth anyways. Truth, we all have enough time to get.
