Gallery I, II & III

The artwork is a large-scale abstract painting. The upper half is dominated by a dense, textured layer of red and orange pigments, with some green and blue visible underneath. A series of light blue triangles, pointing downwards, are arranged in a horizontal line across the upper portion of the red area. The lower half of the painting features darker, more varied colors including deep reds, purples, and blues, with visible brushstrokes and a more chaotic texture. A white, irregular line is drawn across the bottom half of the image, framing the text.
